Pray for Heather and the kids to do well while David is away

Family Update

Elijah continues to amaze us—he loves doing anything physical, and he seems to be a natural at throwing any kind of ball or Frisbee, and he loves jumping. He continues to make observations about things he sees, or stuff he remembers us reading or telling him, that make us smile. He reminded me today that camels live in the desert and can eat cactus! He continues to tell us he wants to be a grown-up, so he can be taller (and I suspect, so that he can do other stuff that he can't do yet). Later this month, Mikayla will perform in her spring ballet recital and “graduate” from preschool.

She is a character with strong opinions! She has adapted well to having a new teacher for the last few months of the school year and looks forward to kindergarten.

Everystudent.com

Heather continues to enjoy answering emails of students directed her way from the everystudent.com website. She has answered questions about God's existence, the Trinity, and also about creation and homosexuality. It's challenging, but a blessing, to be able to address honest questions, while still being home with the kids. Everystudent.com offers an email series to those who indicate on the site that they accepted Christ. The emails help them understand their decision and how to grow in their new relationship with Christ. About 250 new believers sign up per week—right now there are over 8,000 people getting these emails! They have been invited to join a Facebook group. Just glancing at messages from that page is incredible—students from all over the world are connecting because of their relationship with Christ. Praise God for how he is using this tool!

A sample of what students are asking and sharing on everystudent.com's Facebook page:
