Preview Weekend Video Shoot

During production of a recent video, my role was director of photography. The video was made to promote Preview Weekend, an annual event where college juniors and seniors visit the different offices here at our headquarters and see how they might use their major and gifts in ministry working with us. The video takes a humorous look at how it's great to work with the people here, and you never know who you might run into. You can visit <http://youtube.com/watch?v=bCj8O0sgGps> on the internet to see it yourself, or read on for an explanation. The promo portrays a young man explaining how he loves working here, as he gets to use his skills and talents to reach people for Christ, and he also loves the people he gets to work with. The video cuts to him getting on an elevator, where he finds himself chatting briefly with the three wise men on an elevator!

Seminary Class

As part of our professional and spiritual development, Crusade offers seminary-type classes for its staff. Heather will be attending a class offered this month. She's been busy reading, answering questions and writing papers to prepare for the class. She has enjoyed reading about different doctrines and aspects of Christianity, and also looks forward to being in class while David is home with the kids for the week.

Family Update

We were able to spend some time with family in New York and Michigan over Christmas. On Christmas Day we visited Niagara Falls which is just a few minutes from David's parents. We even crossed into Canada and took a spin on an enclosed Ferris wheel that gave us a nice view of the area and the falls. Mikayla really enjoyed the snow this year, while Elijah was a bit too bundled up to be able to move. Mikayla is now practicing writing letters with her mom, and will start dance classes this week. Elijah understands more and responds to simple commands like "Go get your shoes." He said "bubble" pretty well the other day, is signing a few words, and likes spinning. We're thankful to be back in Florida where we can enjoy being outside. (Last weekend it was near 80 degrees and we took a bike ride.)
